THE COMMUNITY

Vancouver Island stretches for 460 kilometres, from the ornate capital of Victoria in the south to Cape Scott’s windswept beaches and rocky headlands at its northern tip. Along with the Gulf Islands, this rugged paradise combines old-growth forests, snow-capped mountains and untamed shorelines to create one of the planet’s most diverse ecosystems.

The urban city of Nanaimo is centrally located on the island with great connectivity to Vancouver and the Lower Mainland and is home to 100,000 residents. Just north, on the Strait of Georgia, the quaint coastal communities of Parksville/Oceanside have been a popular tourist and retirement destination. Located in the north central region of Vancouver Island, the seaside Town of Comox, along with the neighbouring communities of Courtenay and Cumberland, comprises one of the fastest growing areas on the island. Port Alberni is the gateway community to the rugged west coast with and good connectivity to larger urban centers.

Whatever the lifestyle you are looking for, we will help you find it. The island’s cities are brimming with cultural events, festivals, markets and restaurants as well as friendly towns with close-knit neighbourhoods and world-class outdoor adventure.

Vancouver Island offers an exceptional environment for both living and practicing medicine, allowing you to achieve and surpass your professional and lifestyle aspirations.
